For better or worse, the iPhone has become home to our photos, music, conversations, ideas, games, identity, work, social media, shopping, keys and money. It will likely continue to do so for the foreseeable future

An iPhone can last between 2–3 years before an upgrade is needed. Should you buy a new iPhone? That depends on your current iPhone's performance, battery, age, and other factors. The best time to buy a new iPhone is in the fall right after the newest model has dropped.
